

Home Learning links from www.understood.org www.understood.org is a website with information and support for various special educational needs. It is American so some references are to eg. grades instead of year groups.

Here is the link to their suggested home learning links but they are also listed below

https://www.understood.org/en/school-learning/stuck-at-home-activities?utm_source=nl-en&utm_medium=email&utm_campaign=wklynl-0331-fm

From Understood.org

1. Discover DIY math tools for grade-schoolers.
2. Get started making an accomplishments box.
3. Download growth mindset activities to build self-esteem.
4. Learn how to create a strengths chain with your child.
5. Find out how to use TV as a social skills tool.
6. Discover fun things your child can read besides books.
7. Get ideas for when you don't have time to read with your child.
8. Explore indoor activities to keep your active child busy.
9. Use board games to help build important skills.
10. Try some meditation apps for kids.

From around the web

1. Download Reading Rockets' five-day space adventure toolkit.
2. Build emotional smarts with GreatSchools' feeling words game.
3. Download Common Sense Media's apps to inspire outdoor play.
4. Watch famous actors read kids' books out loud.
5. Use baking to help young kids work on math skills.
6. Play animated math games for grades 4–8.
7. Explore a world of wonders, like why don't cats like water.
8. Play a sci-fi game to develop ethical decision-making skills.

9. Find science projects based on your child's age and interests.
10. Use "how to" videos to make things like time capsules, shadow puppets, and chocolate pizza